F. G. Miller students pause to remember

FGM's Class of 2015 remembers fallen heroes

Sixteen members of F. G. Miller High School's Class of 2015 and teacher Ryan Clark (far right) hosted last Thursday's Remembrance Day observances for the entire student body, carrying on a long-standing tradition at the school. The school's namesake, Dr. F. G. Miller, served in the Army medical corps in both World War I and World War II.

At left, Morgan Nelson recites "Why We Wear a Poppy" as a series of photos of servicemen and women flashes on the big screen behind her.

A seemingly endless series of photos of soldiers, sailors and airmen from long ago and more recent times flashed upon the huge screen in F. G. Miller High School's gymnasium last Thursday morning as class after class climbed into the stands for the school's annual Remembrance Day ceremonies.

The Grade 12 students hosted this year's event, with teacher Ryan Clark serving as the MC and Brooke Gornley started off the morning by singing O Canada.

The audience learned the significance of the tradition of two minutes of silence, the first being for those who served in World War I, the second minute for those who served in World War II.

That significance was hammered home by a video created by Terry Kelly, a Newfoundland singer inspired by an incident in a Nova Scotia drugstore on Nov. 11 some years ago. The store manager came on the intercom to ask all who were in the store at 11 a.m. that day to please observe the two minutes of silence, and all but one did, a man who kept trying to engage the clerk in conversation, while she continued to keep the silence. Kelly was so annoyed by the man's thoughtless behaviour that he wrote the song in the video, which showed shadowy Legion members marching through the store as newsreel photos from the World Wars flashed on a vintage television set overhead.

Remembrance Day 2014 commemorates 100 years since World War I began on August 4, 1914. It ended in the signing of an armistice at 11 a.m. on Nov. 11, 1918, with Nov. 11 each year since becoming a day to remember those who served in that war, and more recently, in World War II and other conflicts.

Following the playing of The Last Post, the two minutes of complete silence and Reveille, two students came forward to place a wreath and light a candle of remembrance, before Kaitlyn Hunter, Rachael Walton and Morgan Nelson took centre stage to recite "In Flanders Fields" and "Why We Wear a Poppy."

The ceremony ended with "Sergeant MacKenzie," a lament that is the theme from the movie, "We Were Soldiers," performed by Jasper Nelson, and a message of appreciation to the Grade 12s for their touching ceremony by FGM principal Colin Bjorkman.

Chamber counting down to Extravaganza

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Plans for the Nov. 28 Christmas Extravaganza topped the agenda at last week's Elk Point Chamber of Commerce meeting, with many details of the event checked off the organizers' to-do list.

Photos with Santa, parade lineup, wagon rides and the fireworks have all been booked, and advertising information and donation requests have been circulated to the businesses. Letters have been sent to the Town of Elk Point and Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department regarding the Main Street bonfire and the fireworks, which leaves only a few details to be taken care of, including firming up the schedule of events and decisions on the draw prizes, which will in part be determined by the donations that are now starting to come in.

Town manager Myron Goyan told the chamber that the new Christmas lights for Main Street will be in place for Extravaganza, although the new counterparts for the lights along Highway 41 may be delayed due to customs clearance, "and we may have to put the old ones up again along the highway."

Extravaganza is the kick-off event to the Christmas season, but the chamber has even more holiday cheer in mind, with members approving the continuation of the Christmas Lighting and Decorating contest for another year. Prizes will once again be $150, $100 and $50, and judging will take place on the evening of Tuesday, Dec. 16.

Beautification

Elk Point's downtown will not only get a light upgrade for Christmas, Goyan said, but will also get some long-hoped-for flower baskets next spring and summer, he noted, as the current cement planters are replaced with new, more water-efficient containers.

Stubbs hopes to be on ballot for 2015 election

JON SVEC

Review Contributor

Shannon Stubbs is on the campaign trail, hoping to win the candidacy for the Federal Conservative Party's Lakeland riding during next year's federal election.

Stubbs made a stop in Elk Point on Nov. 4, where a small gathering of local voters met in the back room of the Empress Family Restaurant in order to have a meet and greet with the hopeful candidate.

Stubbs led off the proceedings with a general address regarding her ideals and platforms, and how they align with the views of the federal Conservatives.

"I think it's an important time for our party to have a nomination race, to have an infusion of new blood and new people," she said. "That's part of the reason that I'm running. I think probably because I can offer a combination both of deep roots within the federal party and an adherence to our principles and values, but also a new perspective and a new energy, which I would say that our riding, geographically, does require."

The map of the newly formed Lakeland riding does present itself as an oddly shaped and daunting amount of real estate, stretching from Athabasca to Lloydminster to Bonnyville. Through her travels, however - which have spanned about 50 communities over the last few months - Stubbs has been able to find some common ground across the area.

"The riding as a whole has very similar economic drivers," she said. "Many of the concerns right across the constituency are fairly consistent."

Those drivers, of course, have a lot to do with the energy and agricultural industries, which segued Stubbs into one key issue, and allowed her to simultaneously take a jab at one of the party's federal opponents.

"You probably know that (Liberal Leader Justin) Trudeau is not in favour of the Northern Gateway pipeline, for example, and that's important to Alberta on two fronts," she said. "One, because we need to diversify the export markets that we can get our product into . . . And secondly, we need to get oil off the railway in order to get more grain onto the railway, to keep things moving for our agricultural industry."

Another key issue that she touched upon was also related to the national economy.

"Now that the government is on track to balance the budget and potentially bring in a surplus . . . Conservatives would say that money should stay in the pockets of families, so they can make decisions in their best interest. Other parties would say that it should go into what I think would end up being very difficult to administer and expensive government programs."

Some of the other topics that she touched upon, while national, hit a little closer to home.

"On the Temporary Foreign Workers program, I've been meeting with individual business owners and people, particularly in Elk Point and in St. Paul and Bonnyville and Lloydminster," Stubbs said. "I will keep listening to business owners about the kinds of things that they think need to be improved, and the ways that the program can work better to meet their labour needs . . . There is a consensus that we need to have available all avenues, to ensure we have people to fill the jobs available."

There are at least two other individuals vying for the Federal Conservative candidacy in the Lakeland riding, Terry James of Vegreville and Lewis Semaskewich of Athabasca. Only Conservative Party members will be eligible to vote in the upcoming election, which will take place the week of Dec. 15.

- Are you familiar with the four signs of concussions? They are: disorientation and confusion after the event; impaired balance within one day after; slower reaction times within two days after; and impaired verbal learning and memory within two days. Knowing these signs of concussion can encourage sufferers to seek early help and prevent long-term suffering.
- Many drugs have been in short supply over the past year and pharmacists may use other brands to refill your prescription. We will let you know when the brand has been changed. Sometimes it may not look exactly like your original brand but the effect of the drug will be the same.

Now, we can decorate!

All right, everyone! NOW you can haul out the light strings, blow up the inflatables, and even set up your Christmas tree without being accused of taking the focus off Remembrance Day.

We have now paid our due respect to those who have protected our country and our freedoms for the past century, many losing their lives or their health in the process, and others suffering post-traumatic stress decades before that term was even invented.

Because they fought for our freedoms, we can now feel free to turn our thoughts in a happier direction, and get ready to celebrate the holidays by brightening up our community with lights and decorations. The Town of Elk Point is already on the decorating bandwagon, and new Christmas lights will embellish the downtown area in time for the Christmas Extravaganza. Let's all jump on board and light up!

Take five to prevent falls

As the Canadian population ages, injury and death from falls are on the rise. This National Senior Safety Week, November 6 to 12, the Canada Safety Council challenges all Canadians to commit to "take five to prevent falls." With these easy steps, we can all reduce the likelihood and severity of a fall:

■ Check your home for tripping and slipping hazards.

■ Bone up on calcium and vitamin D. It's easy to add a glass of milk or handful of almonds to your daily routine. Check out the Osteoporosis of Canada Calcium Calculator to find out if you're getting enough. Osteoporosis and weakening bones increase your chances falls and fractures.

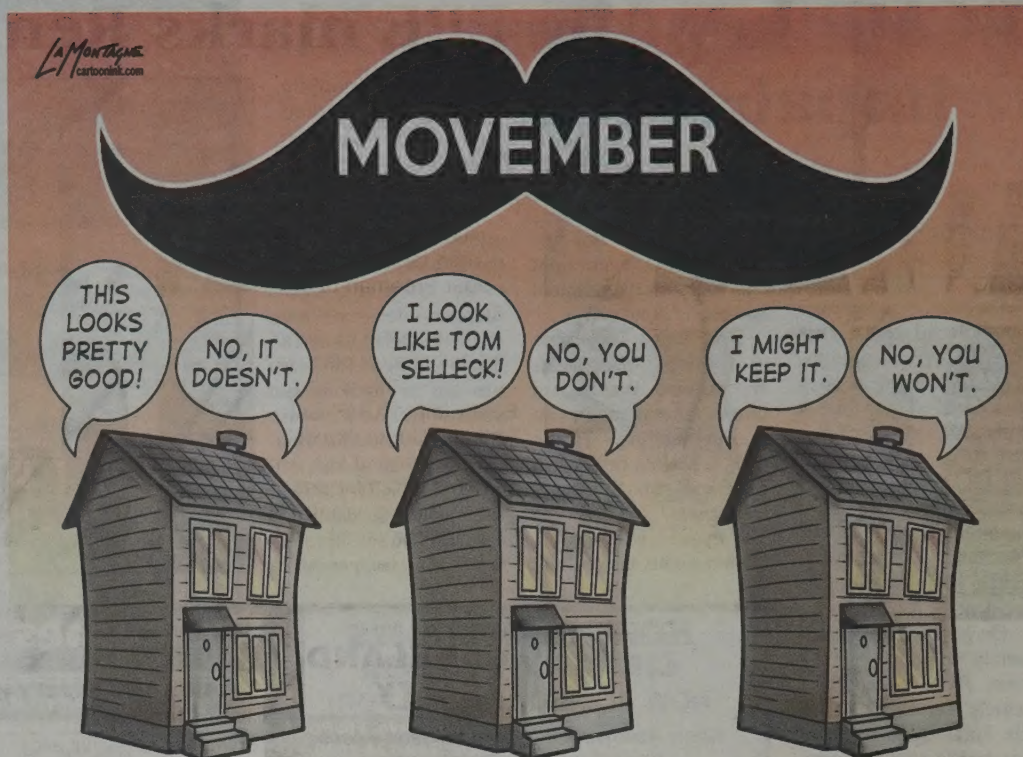

■ Check your medications. If you are on more than three medications a day, or take pills that could impair your balance such as sleeping pills, anti-depressants or blood pressure medications, have a discussion with your doctor about how to best reduce your chance of falling.

■ Get your eyes checked. Even if you're not experiencing symptoms, the Doctors of Optometry of Canada recommend that you have your vision checked at least once a year if you are over the age of 65, or every two years if you're younger. Vision impairments are a leading cause of falls.

■ Exercise to keep strong. Why not try tai chi? This gentle strength-building exercise works your core balance and has been shown to reduce the risk of falling. The Taoist Tai Chi Society of Canada says anyone can do tai chi -- even if you use a wheelchair or are currently experiencing trouble with your balance.

We can all take steps to protect ourselves and our loved ones from preventable falls. Check back frequently at www.canadasafetycouncil.org for more activities and resources on falls prevention during National Senior Safety Week, November 6 to 12.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Remembrance, ambulance and end of an era

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND THE ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF NOV. 11 IN...

1984

A large group commemorated those who gave their lives for peace on Remembrance Day, with Ada Scott laying the wreath on behalf of the mothers of servicemen at the snow-covered cenotaph and Joe Brunner conducting the brief commemorative service in the Pioneer Circle Hall. Elk Point Elks won their first home game of the Centennial League 'B' division season on Remembrance Day, with an 8-3 victory over Kehewin Voyageurs, with goals by Fred Cross, Ernie Poulin, David Sparks, Murray Cochrane, Clayton Cross and Vic Stepa, and a World War Three battle sending five players to the dressing room early with game misconduct and match penalties.

1989

A sizeable parade followed RCMP Cst. L. Stockley, drummer Jason Morris and Cadets Dennis Jasinsky and Terry Wakaruk of RCCSC Arrowhead, St. Paul, down the three-block route past a reviewing stand at the Elk Point Post Office and continuing on to the cenotaph for Remembrance Day observances. Beaver River Member of Parliament Deborah Grey received considerable input on subjects ranging from free trade and the GST to elected senators and abortion from constituents at an open house that packed the Further Education building to capacity.

1994

Elk Point lost its ambulance service after 11 years, when Elk Point and District Ambulance owner Fred Lambright visited town council to report that due to tremendous cutbacks in the healthcare system, he could no longer continue operating, with only four local calls in October, but said his ambulance based in Tullibly Lake and serving Frog Lake, Fishing Lake, Onion Lake and Heinsburg was self-supporting and would continue. Mayor Ed Buck swore in new town councillors Louis Verhagen, Ron Smith and Dave Yake at the town's annual organizational meeting.

One of Elk Point's newest businesses, Stems N Stuff, operated by Manon Joice, earned eight of the 25 nominations for the chamber of commerce Business of the Year award, with 10 other businesses also nominated for the honour. Two elderly Elk Point residents were injured when their vehicle went between barriers around a Public Works site and nosedived into an excavation.

2004

Elk Point's new and optimistic Mayor Parrish Tung, new councillors Dwayne Yaremkevich and Thomas Kondla, re-elected councillors Alvina Schuhmacher and Dennis Jasinsky, town manager Myron Goyan and his office staff and public works superintendent Ron Fraess held a meet-and-greet town hall meeting, which also served as an opportunity to get to know newly arrived Dr. Ayobami Oyeboode. Tiger's Pride became a strong and vital part of Elk Point Elementary School, with principal Lorne Young noting, "We don't want to just do things right, but also to do the right things."

2009

Economic development coordinator Bob Bezpalko returned from the Alberta Visitor Information Providers' and Tourism Industry of Alberta conferences filled with enthusiasm about the role the new Visitor Information Centre would play in the community and setting a goal of having information on every business in town available at the EcoCentre. It was the end of an era at the Windsor Club, as the former social hub of the Windsor Salt Company's community of Riverview was the scene of a garage sale of all its contents, as area residents said a sad farewell to the scene of decades of enjoyable recreation.

Winning weekend for minor hockey teams

I bet some people travel to St. Paul just to have a cup of Tim Horton's. On Saturday the Micro Novice traveled there to play their first game of the season against the St. Paul TimBits. Madden Flamand with two goals, Sebastian Brousseau with one goal assisted by "Lincoln Park" Pankiw. First home game for the Micro Novice will be Dec 6,

The Novice team won their second game of the season over Bonnyville on Saturday. Sam "Spiderman" Rogal, Seth Morton, and "King Kong Konnor"

Poitras all with hat tricks, "St Nic" Penner with two, Kady Bourne, Gavin "Giver" Kadutski, Ethan Castle-Wasson, "Bo Diddly" Fontaine with one each. Vaughn Ockerman, "Cyclone Cole" Pierce, Kaleb Flamand and the D Man, Cash "CC" Capjack, all with assists.

It started out as a very intense game, they score, we score, they score, we score; the score tied 6 all after 20 minutes. In the second period, they would score a few more, but we would score a whole lot more! The Peewee Avalanche kicked it into overdrive for the second and third period; the final score 17 to 11 for the Avalanche. Cole Bendixen and "Lightning Liam" Ludlage leading the barrage with five goals each, "Coast to Coast" Connor Lychak with a couple, Charlie "the Angel" Rogal finding the mess with two, Dallas Bristow and Devon "Naz" Nazarchuk with one each. Jace "the Stafford Streak", Evan "Bat Boy" Ockerman, Matt Quinney, "Raging Paige" Henderson, "Hammering Hank" Rogal, all helping out with the cause, goalie Ronan "Radar" Poulin was sharp in the cage for the last two periods. On Sunday the Avalanche had another big win over Pierceland.

A nice big crowd showed up for the Sunday matinee between the Atom Avalanche and Mallaig. Another back and forth action packed game that was tied 7-all after two periods. Mallaig really turned up the heat in the third and the Avalanche had a bit of a meltdown, Mallaig victorious in this one. Jaden

"Jet Stream" Van Maaron with six goals, Avery "Whirlwind" Warawa with a goal and two assists, Daxton Mulgrew scoring, Luke "Skywalker" Poulin with an assist.

The Bantam Avalanche are off to a terrific start, they traveled to Lac La Biche on Sunday picking up another two point in their fourth league win of the year. Nicholas Anderson scoring five goals, two for the rugged Angus McFarlane. "The Big O" Brody Odgaard, team captain "Warrior Warren" Ference, Chad "Pick Pocket" Poitras and Austin "Astro" Axley, all with one each. Set up men Keenan Stafford, Christian Castle Wasson and Hayden "Hot Wheels" Ludlage with two assists each.

Now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week. "They were checking us so closely; I could tell what brand of deodorant they were using." Last week's answer to - "He better get married soon, because he's getting uglier every day!" - Mark Recchi
